INTRODUCTION

Hi Folks,

Welcome to BST Newsletter Edition 28, in this edition we have 21 on-going reviews and an introduction to a new review.

But firstly, a huge thanks to Sgt Dave, who has been the editor of the newsletter. I'm sure I speak for all the readers in appreciating the work he has done and his attention to detail in compiling the newsletter. He has now been elevated to the giddy heights of "Review Manager"! So the reins for the newsletter have been handed over to me, Sgt Rich. I only hope I can maintain the standards of Dave's newsletters.

If you wish to contact me about the newsletter please e-mail me rich@bettingssystemtruths.com

You can also use that address to send in your contributions for the Blogger's Corner section of the newsletter. We don't have any contributions to the Corner this week, but I hope some of you will be inspired to make a contribution next week.

In the Reviews section I've added a link for each review, so that if there is a review that you want to check out, you can go to the day by day review of that system, directly from the newsletter. The links look a bit cumbersome, but clicking on any of them will open up the full review for you in a browser window.

So now you can either go directly to the sales page for each system or directly to the review of the system. I hope you find that useful.

Over the next few weeks, I'm hoping to extend Dave's idea of a league table to include all the current reviews, not just the Lay systems. It's a bit complicated to do this, but I'm hoping that once I get into the groove with the newsletter, I will be able to find my way into doing such a league table. Then we will be able to compare all the reviewed systems at a glance.

New Reviews

A New Review coming up next week: Laying Winter Profits – This is the cousin of Laying Autumn Profits which has produced a profit over 65 days. More news about this next week. But here is this week’s new review intro:

Perpetual I – Introduction - Reviewer Sgt Philip

This is a new review for the much heralded Perpetual I Automated Bot, which claims to have turned $1000 dollars into $1.5 million over a 3 year period. Whether or not you would have been able to get some of the large amounts matched on Betfair is open to debate. However, the author has said that he will advise on the liquidity issue in his next video series if you have signed up to his e-mail list.

Perpetual I is an automated bot, which operates as a laying service between the hours of 11.30am to 10pm – Monday to Saturday (Sunday is a day off!!). The bot takes into account trainer and jockey statistics together with going, class, price, market moves and effectively all the other variables required to lay a horse to lose. The bot will not action a lay bet under a Betfair odds of 4.65 and is programmed to place the bet so many seconds before the off, therefore some horses may qualify as a bet at 11.30am for example, but be ruled out later that afternoon due to price fluctuations. I have had a look through previous results and the lay odds do seem to go as high as 11.0 on Betfair, there has been no mention so far of an upper limit on the odds.

The bot itself is very easy to set up, even for those not used to using any form of automated system, in any event the user guide is plain, simple and self explanatory. The bot has all sorts of staking plans and stop loss parameters that can be used to limit liabilities and of course there is a TEST MODE, which the author stresses ALWAYS USE FIRST before going to real “live” gambling.

The results since 2008 are available on an excel spreadsheet and there are various staking plans showing the power of compounding, together with monthly income and even retirement plans!

The author is also giving away a free National Hunt laying system, when you sign up to his early bird e-mails. The free laying system does seem to work and is based on sound betting principles. (It costs nothing to try).

At this point in time, I cannot advise on the price of this service but suspect it will be based on a monthly subscription.

I have no idea how many selections the bot will produce daily or weekly, therefore my posts may be sporadic. This service will come under the usual review time rules for BST. I propose to start off with a £1000 bank utilising the Perpetual I staking method, which is available on the settings within the bot. All results will be Betfair odds less 5% commission. I will keep record of the results but will start my review when the paid service begins.

Current Reviews

This section covers all the current reviews being conducted and just gives a quick insight how each review is performing. All the figures quoted below cover the period November 22nd to November 28th.

9 Minute System - Reviewer Sgt Rich

In the last 7 days, there have been 16 qualifying races. They have produced a steadily increasing profit on all three variants. The incremental increases are small, but that is expected from the system. It is a relatively low-risk, low-return system.

Up to day 14	This Week	Cumulative
	P/L	100 point Start Bank	P/L
Variant 1	+ 2.94 points	104.83 points	+ 4.83 points
Variant 2	+ 2.55 points	104.55 points	+ 4.55 points
Variant 3	+ 2.10 points	102.90 points	+ 2.90 points

All Weather Backing System - Reviewer Sgt Philip

There have been no bets for this week, as this is a very selective system there will be periods like this.

In fact the author tells me that for all of November in 2009 there, were only 6 horses which made the criteria.

Champion Draws - Sgt Tommy

Only 1 bet this week, but it was a draw with 9% of the bank staked, so it produced a good profit. Remember Sgt Tommy has been following this one from October 24th to November 20th and had a bank of 119.91 points so that is our Start Bank.

Up to day 7	This Week	Cumulative

Lay League Tables

Lay League Table for November 22nd to 28th (Profit and Loss)

Position	Name of Service/System	Profit and Loss	Position L/W
1	Sams Lucky Lays 9	3.80	1
2	Laying Autumn Profits	0.72	4
3	Laying Low Odds	0.70	3
4	Russell Gibbs Lays	0.37	2
5	Graeme Murray Gold Lays	N/A	5
5	Michaels Place Lay Formula	N/A	5

Here's a new table showing how each is doing on average.

Lay League Table up to November 28th
(Average Profit and Loss per day for the whole review period)

Position	Name of Service/System	Profit and Loss (per day)	Position L/W
1	Sams Lucky Lays 9	0.54	N/A
2	Graeme Murray Gold Lays Plan A	0.28	N/A
3	Michaels Place Lay Formula	0.27	N/A
4	Laying Autumn Profits	0.12	N/A
5	Russell Gibbs Lays	0.005	N/A
6	Laying Low Odds	- 0.11	N/A

I'm hoping to extend the above table to include all Back and Lay Reviews, over the next few weeks.

All Weather?

This week we had the sight of the "All Weather" meeting at Wolverhampton being abandoned due to the Polytrack icing up and balls of frozen "poly surface" from the horses hoofs being flicked up into the horses and jockeys faces. It prompts the question is "All Weather" racing truly all-weather?

During the discussion, on At The Races, as to whether the meeting was to be abandoned, jockeys and experts came on air saying that Wolverhampton behaved differently than other surfaces, in that it balled up into icy lumps more easily than other tracks. No reason was given, but there was speculation it might be due to local climate exposure.

The next day Matt "Yeee-haa" (love him or hate him) Chapman ranted about it, in his usual over-the-top, amusing way. He did however make a good point. That is why is racing on artificial surfaces always lumped together in the one description of "All-Weather"?

For a start not all "All-Weather" tracks are made of the same material. For example, Southwell's All-weather surface is made of Fibresand. Often on TV, experts discuss the different nature of the different surfaces, especially the different depths and softness of the surfaces, which effectively makes for different "going" at different tracks. The going on different courses, according to experts, is not at all "standard"!

Chapman suggested that the media could put "Poly" or "Fibre" after the race-card name, instead of "AW". One of his better suggestions!

Anyway for the punter, I would suggest when comparing form, don't treat all All-weather tracks as equal. A horse with a good record at Wolverhampton, may not do as well on the Fibresand surface of Southwell.

Next Week & Signing Off

We should have the start of the review for Laying Winter Profits as well as all the on-going reviews.

This is Sgt Rich signing off and I hope that you have found some of the content within this newsletter to be useful. Thanks for taking the time to read it and I hope that I can expand the content next week. So take care and remember to look out for the next BST newsletter in your e-mails on December 8th. Until then folks take care and happy & successful punting.

Regards

Sgt Rich - On behalf of the Betting System Guru
