INTRODUCTION

It's now the Third Edition of the Betting System Truths Newsletter already and what have we got for you this week? As usual there is the weekly updates of current reviews, we also had 2 final reviews 1 bailed and 1 jailed just look down below for those. There is the first part of the Betting Advice "Treat your Betting Like a Business". Also there is a posting from one of our Blogger's Ed a very good piece.

A repeat of the article posted on BST about the Betting Scammers who got jailed in case any of you missed it, I am sure we could think of a lot more who could join them! On page 10 I have given a link for a free calculator.

Well it's a hat trick of new Sergeants since this newsletter started our latest recruit to the fold is called Marc Chawner, so what are Marc's qualities well he has been making a living on Betfair for 10 years trading on live football matches and makes enough to support his very expensive family, Sir! We all have expensive families (As much as we love them), come on now reveal all enlighten us! Apart from this our new Sergeant is into automated systems and thinks every system etc is a scam well BST will keep you busy, but do not forget there is an occasional gem so be careful not to miss it. Anyway Marc is reviewing Betfair Pirate which is an automated laying system it is now onto Day 6, started off brightly the first 3 days and has gone downhill a bit since, not to worry still early days yet, Good Luck! with that Marc and welcome to the BST family.

See Betfair Pirate here: <http://www.betfairpirate.com/>

Another new system started on Friday 4th June that was the Golden Key Method 2 this is from the same author and stable as All By The Book. This review is being carried out by our very own Sgt Dave are you sure he is not an automated reviewer you seen this guys number of postings, I got tired just reading it. I think he is approaching the dreaded 666, all joking aside mate your doing a grand job. It appears that the Golden Key Method is different from ABTB and has got of to a steady start if not spectacular one currently it is 4.46 points up after Day 3.

Passed and Recommended

No service or system passed during the week of May 31st to June 6th

Released On Bail (Neutral)

Just one in this column this week and this was Sports Betting Club here is a brief outline of why it was placed in this section.

Sports Betting Club was reviewed by Sgt Rob, now this service actually made a profit of 29.78 pts profit, now this is not bad for 56 days but there was subscription costs of 49.95 pounds a month to consider, so as Sgt Rob indicates this is not for the smaller backer. Also there were a lot of bets especially on golf and football so you would need a fair size bank to cover these wagers. To give you Rob's example if you were backing and laying at the 100 pound stakes recommended by the website just one Saturday afternoon of 9 lays, 4 backs and 1 perm on Football matches would have required 2075 pounds and what if you had already tied up say 1000 pounds in the weekend golf tournaments that requires some serious funding. So an okay service but for an exclusive market would be the best way to sum this one up.

See Sports Betting Club here: <http://www.sportsbetclub.net/james.htm>

Failed and Jailed

Only one failure this week and that was yet another SWP service:

Lay It Safe was reviewed by Sgt Jon and it lasted the full 84 days, in order partly to satisfy the author's request of an adequate trial and the fact that at the 56 day stage it was showing a small profit of 4.98 points, mind you it still did not make any difference because it still ended up showing a loss of 24.59 points at the end. The SWP website claims 89% strike rate for the Lays in the review it only achieved 76%, it also suffered from a lack of selections 31 days out of the 84 days no selections. For this they wanted 100 pounds for 6 months subscription, well given the evidence there was only one place for it, yet another SWP product goes down.

News About All The Reviews

This section covers all the current reviews being conducted and just gives a quick insight how each review is performing. It seems that several of the services/ systems below are struggling to find selections on a regular basis I have seen 11, 7, 4 days mentioned and so on how do they expect to make profit if they cannot come with at least 4 or 5 bets a week?.

All By The Book - Reviewer Sgt Dave

A very good week for All by the Book it had 6 winning days out of 7 and produced a profit on the week of + 138.02 points. So this method continues impress and has a cumulative P/L of + 789.01 up to day 54.

See All by the Book here: <http://www.allbythebook.com/>

Betfair Pirate – Reviewer Sgt Marc

One of 2 new reviews that started this week, this is an automated laying system, which requires you to use Betting Assistant along with an excel trigger sheet, when it is released properly there will be just one Bot. Good reports on the operator Jason he seems to be offering excellent customer support and has solved many of the blogger's issues. So how well is the system doing Days 1 to 3 very good it was 9.70 points up, unfortunately the next 3 days it has taken a tumble, currently the cumulative P/L stands at + 0.05 points. Still we are only on Day 6 so there is plenty of time for the old Jolly Roger to make a comeback.

See Betfair Pirate here: <http://www.betfairpirate.com/>

Champion Lays - Reviewer Sgt Philip

Up to Day 12 now, the service only had one bet and that was on June 2nd it was a winning one so a profit on the week of +95.80 points. Commencing with a 2000 pound bank, the cumulative bank stands at 2244.60 pounds that is a profit of 244.60 pounds.

See Champion Lays here: http://www.bettingsystemtruths.com/review/champion\_lays/

Combination System -Reviewer Sgt Tommy

Tommy made a new posting on June 4th and the system finally produced a selection after a barren 7 days unfortunately it lost so a minus 1 point for the week. Cumulative Level Stakes stands at minus 3.33 points and the Running Bank at 66.67 points (70 points start).

Combination System here: http://www.bettingsystemtruths.com/review/combination\_system/

Follow the Fortune -Reviewer Sgt Ian

Not such a good week but I only have up to the 5th of June (Day 75) results but overall both Backs and Lays lost money so far it was minus 3.02 and minus 2.50 respectively, so the Full System is showing a loss of minus 5.52 points on the week so far. The Full System has a cumulative P/L of 182.36 points for the Back Bets 94.71 and finally for the Lays 187.65 point's these are all to a starting bank of 100 points.

See Follow the Fortune here: <http://irec.ommend.com/follow-the-fortune/>

Football Betting Master - Reviewer Sgt Tommy

3 bets this week with 2 winning and a profit of + 36.50 points and the starting bank of 1000 points now stands at 1147 points that's a profit of +147 points after 17 days. It should be noted that stakes vary on this service and it involves the forecasting of how many goals will be scored in a match.

See Football Betting Master here:
http://www.bettingsystemtruths.com/review/football\_betting\_master/

Free Profits- Reviewer Sgt Tony

The way this one is shaping up it should be renamed Free Losses another bad week losing 470 .04 points, on the 5th June it almost broke the betting bank it was down to 57.60 pounds and this was with a Starting Bank of 1000 pounds, all of this within 37 days is quite amazing. It did manage to rally slightly on the 6th and pulled back 60 pounds, currently the Bank stands at 117.60 pounds, so far a loss of minus 884.20 pounds up to Day 37. The question is this will it make it to the 56 day stage?

See Free Profits here: <http://irec.ommend.com/freeprofits>

Golden Key Method 2 - Reviewer Sgt Dave

The second of our new reviews as mentioned in the introduction this is a stable mate of All By The Book and has the same author. This uses a different method to ABTB and does require less funds; of course the profits would not be as high as its illustrious team mate, having said that Variant 1 produced a 89.66 points profit in May and that is not to be sniffed at. This method has 2 Variants both of which require you to be at your computer around 11:30 am for an hour or so, on Variant 1 you have the option of using a Bot or to manually place your bets in the afternoon, for Variant 2 you have to be physically at your PC as you have to trade around 1 minute before the start of a race. So far the running bank is at 104.46 points after Day 3 a profit of 4.46 points over the 3 Days.

Laying Odds On Favourites - Reviewer Sgt Dave

I am beginning to think that One Good Bet and this one is trying to see who can have the least selections during a review. This week there was 5 days of No Selections, on the remaining 2 days there was one losing lay and one winning one, resulting in a +1.50 points profit on the week for Fixed Level Stakes, a small loss was recorded on Bank Liability of minus 0.39 points. So overall after 54 Days the Running Bank for the Level Stakes stands at 1049.50 points a grand profit of +49.50 points and that's staking 50 points a Lay. As for 5% Bank Liability its Running Bank is 954.11 points that's a minus 45.89 points.

See Laying Odds On Favourites here: <http://irec.ommend.com/lof/>

One Good Bet - Reviewer Sgt Jon

An exciting week for Sgt Jon he had 3 betting days but unfortunately it was not a profitable one losing minus 1.97 points. So after 30 Days there have been only 11 selections and once again SWP claims of 27 points profit a month are looking a bit thin, the cumulative P/L stands at minus 7.97 points after a month.

See One Good Bet here: http://bettingsystemtruths.com/review/one\_good\_bet/

Pin Point Lays - Reviewer Sgt Dave

This service must be the unluckiest one I know it managed to find 5 selections this week which were both Low Lays and Banker it had 1 winning and 1 losing Lay, of the remaining 3, 2 were Non Bets due to being over the odds range and the other was because a Non Runner had over 10% R/F to make matters all would have been winning lays for the service. There was 2 Bullet Lays and once again one of these was a Non Bet due to a Non Runner and a high R/F, the other was thankfully a winning one for the service. So not a good week once again with Low Lays showing a loss of minus 2.25 points to Level Stakes and minus 3.45 points to 5% Bank Liability. For the Banker selections it was similar figures minus 2.45 points to Level Stakes and minus 4.45 points to 5% Bank Liability. The only area that showed a profit on the week was Bullet Lays with a + 0.95 points on Level Stakes and + 4.51 points to 5% Bank

Betting System Truths Weekly Newsletter © Multi Niche Marketing 2010      Price £2.50
Liability. Overall the cumulative banks for Low Lays is 86.09 points L/S and 82.00 points B/L, for Banker Lays it stands at 97.42 points L/S and 93.50 points B/L. As for Bullet Lays Level Stakes are at 99.72 points and 98.46 points for Bank Liability so two of the services are nearly breaking even.

See Pin Point lays here: <http://www.pinpointlays.com/>

Racing Revelations- Sgt Graeme

Well from Days 69 to 80 the system produced 58 selections and could only manage 4 winners (ouch) needless to say on the week it lost minus 19.83 points and the cumulative P/L stands at +13.13 after Day 80. Sgt Graeme will be giving his final thoughts in around 4 or 5 days but the ROI for one is going to be pretty poor given the number of selections.

See Racing Revelations here: <http://irec.ommend.com/racingrevelation.co.uk/>

Sports Betting Champ -Reviewer Sgt Philip

Same as last week just one posting on June 4th two selections , two winners and a profit of $9.31 on the week, the Running Bank stands at $974.64 so is showing a loss of minus $25.36 overall after Day 14. Another service where bets seem few and far between, having an 11 day gap since the previous ones was sent out on May 24th.

Top Racing Bets- Reviewer Sgt Gerald

The last posting from Sgt Gerald was on June 3rd Day 14 up to that stage all 3 parts of the service had made a small loss on the week, for Winning Post it was minus 1.14 points, for Inform Racing Tips it had a minus 0.91 points and finally Profitable Lays minus 1.60 points. Two parts are still in profit Winning Post with a cumulative P/L of + 3.32 points and Profitable Lays at +2.82 points; the third In Form Racing Tips is at minus 4.36 points.

Betting Advice

Treat your Betting Like a Business

Money Management

Now in Betting terms this should be straightforward, we all know that we need to have a different account etc for our betting needs but do we do it I bet in most cases if you are truthful the answer is no. Why should you have an account separate of your personal finances, housekeeping what ever, one would be emotional involvement. If you are using money that is destined to pay the mortgage then you are emotionally attached, because you cannot afford to lose it, of course it will affect your judgement and when that happens everything will turn against you. The racing certainty that only has to turn up to win; the system that has not had a loser in months will suddenly turn sour, as one thing after another the whole world seems to be against you. Then are those who on payday, that want to have a little flutter in the bookies it will turn out to be more than that by the end of the afternoon, this was more common in the 70's and 80's now most people get wages paid directly into the bank. The next temptation using your credit card to pay into the Online bookmakers and Betfair to give yourself a betting bank, that's all well and good if you already have the cash put to one side to pay it and you pay it in to your cards account straight away. Of course if you don't pay it in straight what's the odds you will have found something else to spend it on before your statement is due, now your betting profits are going to be restricted because you got to pay x amount of interest on the credit card, now just like the mortgage money you are starting to put additional pressure on yourself and your betting.

So we are clear now that even if its only 50 or 100 pounds you are starting with that money is strictly for one thing and one thing only your betting business, and whatever happens you do not touch it until a sufficient amount has been made. So what do I mean by sufficient amount well most experienced backers would say set yourself a target so that you can withdraw your original investment plus an additional amount for your time and effort, but at the same time leave sufficient in your betting account to be able to wager at slightly higher stakes than when you originally started out. Example your initial starting bank is 200 pounds set a goal of 600 pounds when you reach this, take out your original investment plus say an additional 100 pounds for your efforts. This leaves 300 pounds in your Betting Bank which is more than your original investment so you start all over again setting yourself another goal. Now if you had real will power you could let the bank grow, we all have seen the figures of if you follow this service/system for 3 years and you had used % of Bank Staking your initial investment of say 500 pounds is now worth 30000 and so on, but have you seen the stakes you would be using at the end of that 3 years probably 300 pounds per Bet or similar. Now here comes a conundrum how many of you would be comfortable at that kind of level of staking?

The next thing to remember if you want to say run five proven services or systems to split your betting bank equally between the five, so if you had 1000 pounds that's 200 pounds on each, if one of those systems turns out to be a nightmare and wipes out its bank then you still have 80 % remaining, what would happen if you just had one bank for all five, it could be a lot less than 80% don't think its possible., just look at what happened to Free Profits in 37 days 1000 points has been reduced to 117.60 just check the review. In most businesses it takes time to build up profits, of course there are exceptions as there is to everything, but you must take the long term view with your betting, so many times I have seen it on the Blog people complaining a service is not making enough money or they have lost money, one is because they have probably not got a betting bank and not followed a proper staking plan. There is a classic story of a tipster who gave his clients seven winners on the trot then the eighth one lost, he was threatened by one particular client saying he had lost him 10,000 pounds. How did he lose this amount he wanted to get big money quick instead of following the tipsters staking advice he reinvested all his winnings from one selection to another, so when the last horse lost he was done for, so instead of having a good profit he ended up with nothing!.

This brings me onto a comment on the BST blog its from Ed and this shows how he has got his money management sorted out for All By The Book, a very good posting ED and very useful for those who using ABTB.

1. Ed says:

This is my guide to any newcomers 4 ABTB. If you use credit card expect £50 cash transfer fee for £1000 deposit to the Bookies. Similar Fees when reloading. Best to use a cash account & debit card. (No fees.) I run £1350 average around 13 accounts. I have £1000 extra in cash account as there is 24 hours or more before withdrawals appear back in account. I would say if your funding is low you will be under even more pressure than the system demands. Money bookers allows 4 a faster return of funds to their card (which needs initial funding with fees.) While you win I believe no other costs exists, particularly as Bookmakers cover deposits and withdrawals to your Money bookers card account. I admit to little knowledge of this route but I did set myself up 4 this facility. Can bet does not want credit Debit cards so its Money bookers or Bac$. It took a long time to set this all up and gain some knowledge (with mistakes) along the way. I hope my efforts help anyone starting. An example of how fast the money can go; Bet a favourite at near £50 then repeat it on the next race from the same bookmaker and you need funds for the next 5 events. My experience (Very limited) indicates you need 2 do the banking most nights when betting at £100, but as there is no incrementing of stakes you can skip a day when needed. On average I would say 2 Withdrawals & 2 deposits balance the books adequately 4 the next day. Providing your debit card is up, you can deposit to any account near zero.

Great stuff from the guys who figured this one and thanks 4 comments from everyone. Please tell me where I go wrong and if you have better techniques

You see even if Ed is not that experienced he has gone out of his way to research charges, the time it takes to transfer funds and prepared to put some time in at the end of the day to sort out his accounts. All By The Book is an excellent method but it does require some planning and effort on ones part to achieve the results. There is a saying “You get back, what you put in”, if you put no effort into your betting, you will get no returns.

Of course we cannot have a subject on Money Management without mentioning Staking there are so many different types out there but the philosophy is very simple “Protect your Bank” if a staking method does not do this forget it. I mean some such as doubling up after a lose etc are just there to make fancy numbers, we have Stop At Winners (SAW) the best example one can give of controlled recovery but keeping your bank safe has to be Favourites Phenomenon where there are plenty of safeguards built in to stop it spiralling out of control:

See Favourites Phenomenon here: <http://irec.ommend.com/favouritesphenomenon/>

The best staking is one that increases your stakes when the system you use is on a winning streak and when it is on a losing one the stakes are decreased therefore protecting your bank, so we are looking at 1 % say up to 5 % of your bank this is okay with backing but for laying you have to be wary of the Betfair minimum 2 pound stake of course there is ways round this and certain Bots will allow you to use very low stakes but of course they will cost you extra.

Another factor to consider is how many selections does your service or system produce on average per day, for example your service/system provides 12 lays a day and the average Lay price is 6.00 an also it has 12 back bets a day this is not uncommon I have seen this on several reviews on BST so you have a 2 pound a point stakes this would mean your total stake would be 144 pounds so to a 100 point Bank you would be risking nearly 75% of your total bank in just one day. One of our new Sergeants Danny I believe had an interesting idea take the recommended Bank and add an additional 50% to it, so 100 points becomes 150 points. So when its comes down to staking this has to be in align with you betting bank and the system or service has to be in sync with your stakes and Betting Bank that you have at you disposal. This article is meant for our newer recruits to betting but sure we all need to stop and think sometime and take stock of where we are with our betting.

Key Points

1. Make sure your Betting Bank is completely separate from your personal funds, household money this way you have no emotional attachment.
2. Don't to be tempted to use credit cards, mortgage money etc you will incur charges which will eat into any profits you may obtain.
3. Set yourself a target to reach before you take out your initial investment plus an additional amount so what ever happens you have got your original bank plus some interest back.
4. If running one or more system/service do not be tempted to use just one bank for all of them, split up your funds equally between all of them.
5. Do not be tempted to bet bigger stakes that is out of proportion to your Betting Bank, this is the road to ruin there is no such thing as get rich quick for most of us.
6. Betting is a long term business or at best medium term, set your mind to this fact.
7. Plan your finances; a good example is what our blogger Ed did with All By The Book.
8. Avoid fancy staking plans that quote big numbers they do not show what happens when there selections lose; it's the road to bankruptcy.
9. Make sure that the system or service matches the amount of your Betting Bank in other words do not try to run a 1000 point Bank system on your 200 points Bank it just wont work, if you reduce the stakes to low your profit would be minimal to say the least. Another problem if your stakes are to low possible issues trying to place wagers with Betfair for example.
10. Finally and the most important protect the Bank at all costs.

Interesting Article

At last maybe the authorities will wake up to the scammers out there trying to rob innocent punters of their hard earned money here is an extract from a local newspaper care of one of our blogger's. Showing it here on the newsletter, in case any of you folks missed the original posting.

Brighton twins jailed for £5 million betting scam

Twin brothers from Brighton have each been jailed for seven years after being convicted of obtaining around £5 million in a horse racing betting scam.

Paul and Gregory Spicer, 35, were found guilty of conspiracy to defraud following a five-week trial at Brighton Crown Court, a Sussex Police spokesman said.

A third man, Lee O'Donnell, 62, was jailed for 21 months for his lesser role in the scheme, which was carried out over a four-year period.

Police were first alerted to the scam in 2006 following complaints from victims throughout the UK who had received unsolicited leaflets through the post advertising a scheme to join a horse racing betting syndicate.

The series of leaflets and brochures were printed including the names John 'Jock' McCracken, Robert Carter Racing, and Paul Howell Racing.

Paul Spicer, of Dyke Road, Brighton, Gregory Spicer, of The Drove, Brighton, and O'Donnell, of Eaton Gardens, Hove, were then arrested last year following a joint investigation between Sussex Police's major fraud unit and London Borough of Merton Trading Standards, codenamed Operation Cantonese.

The three men were found to have conspired with each other and with others between April 30 2003 and February 13 2008 to defraud prospective and actual participants in various purported betting services and purported investment services, doing so by making false claims in relation to the investment services and seeking and receiving payment in relation to that which the services referred to.

Restraint orders have been put in place for the defendants' possessions and police now plan formal confiscation proceedings against them.

Betting Tools

Just found the one this week a free Back Lay Calculator also does a trade.

Back Price	Back Stake	Lay Price	Lay Stake	Lay Liability	Total Stake	Net P/L
2,20	25,00	2,00	27,50	27,50	52,50	2,38

Single Betting Market      Current Rate Of Commission Charged (%) 5,00

The purpose of this betting tool is pretty self explanatory. Simply enter all relevant data into the highlighted cells of the choosen calculator and use the calculated stake(s) to oppose your original position in order to either lock-in a profit or take a loss.
