INTRODUCTION

Hi Folks,

We have another Final Review – passed with 2.5 stars. This week’s league table shows that Insider Gold, (now called Sports Bet Gold) and Champion Draws both continue their success. I’ve also included a second league table for all those previous reviews that were passed by the reviewer. You can use this, along with the Reviews (links found down the left hand side of the website pages) to help decide if you want to invest in any of them.

We’d like to hear from you, please contact me via the Bloggers Corner at rich@bettingssystemtruths.com

New Reviews

Golf Bet Profits – Introduction by Sgt John

I shall be starting the Golf Bet Profits review tomorrow, which is an email advice system and due to the nature of the sport, is based on long-term strategies.

The site is run by a guy called Simon who started dabbling with golf betting in 1989. He claims to have refined his approach to betting on the sport constantly since then and now has “a network of informers” (Scotland Yard eat your heart out!) on both major tours and he personally attends several tournaments in Europe and the USA to keep his “ear to the ground.” He does have a list of notable highlights during 2010 on his site, one as high as a high as 100/1, but no record of actual results. I shall ask him if those are available.

The service costs £35 for a standard monthly membership, six months for £175 (saving £35), or a full year at £315 (saving £105).

Tips are emailed to members once a week on a Tuesday, although their Tips Centre, managed by Betfan, can be accessed by members. If there is further news or developments members will get an email update. There will be some occasions when a further selection on Saturday or Sunday will be made, but this is rare and members will be informed in the usual manner. In the major Tournaments there will also play a matchbet over 72 holes where it is felt the layers have made a mistake. He claims an 80% strike rate on these at even money, but they do not happen that often. The tips also advise the best bookmaker price on each bet, but in my experience a quick glance at Oddschecker or Bestbetting would determine the best odds.

All Golf Bet Profits tips will be advised with a points stake and a bank of 200 points is recommended to get maximum benefit from the advised stakes. The way the service works is on each tournament he operates a five-point stake so with two tournaments a week you will be staking 10 points most weeks. As these are sent out on Tuesdays you should have plenty of time to get on before the usual Thursday starts. I already have the bets for this week so I will be posting the first batch of results by the end of the first tournament.

Best Regards

Sergeant John

Place 2 Profit – Introduction by Sgt Rich

Hi Bloggers

The Place 2 Profit sales page says a group of racing professionals (un-named) “found the one and only way that gives us all total power and domination over all bookmakers”.

This service specialises in Place bets on Exchanges like Betfair.

There are three classes of tips sent by daily e-mail, with the selections also available to subscribers online. The idea is to get regular winnings from the daily “Hotshots” at lower odds but with a high strike rate. Less regularly there are Longshots, they don’t win as often but when they do, the idea is that they boost the profits. Then there are occasional Placepot selections aimed to win a jackpot!

The tips include multiple bets of doubles and trebles. To do this on Betfair, you have to place the bet on the first selection and if it wins, place all the returns (winnings + stakes) on the next selection.

Betfan have contacted me to say the recommended bank for Hotshots and Longshots is 50 points, with the Placepot bets being £1 fun bets outside this betting bank. The welcome message for new subscribers will include this info from now on. The tips arrive with a quote of the current trading price on the bets. But I’ll record all results to Betfair SP.

I’ve often thought backing for a Place on Betfair ought to be a way to make profits. After all it is easier to get a Place than it is to get a Win. But in practice I have never found a way to make a regular profit with the small odds offered for a Place. It will be interesting to see if Place 2 Profit can achieve this.

There are three subscription options, either £47 for one month; £94 for three months; or £141 for six months. Betfan, the publishers, are now offering a 5 day trial to new members.

Rich

Final Reviews

Place Profits - Review Summary - Reviewer Sgt Jon

Verdict = Passed

Rating: ★★★★★

Hi Bloggers

Apologies for the late summary of the place profits review.

Place Profits is a horse racing tipster service backing horses in the Place Market on Betfair. The service costs £37.97 per month and includes selections to be backed at SPs of shorter than 6/1 (Place Profits 1) and shorter than 7/2 (Place Profits 2).

Potential selections are received by e-mail every day and are also available on a members web page. The one aspect of Place Profits that can be very frustrating is the SP rule. There were many occasions during the trial when advised selections went off at a longer price than the 6/1 and 7/2 rules which then went on to win or be placed.

The author maintains this rule is there to prevent long losing runs but in my opinion, backing horses should be more about identifying value in the market based on the probability of the horse being placed rather than placing so much emphasis on the SP.

Indeed, many of the SP non qualifiers were placed at SPs of 7/1 upwards and included a 28/1 outright winner. I did ask the author for past records of his selections and SPs as I wanted to see whether backing the horse to place at any SP would have resulted in a better or worse points profit for the trial period. Despite several requests, this information was not made available, the latest reason given this week was that he had lost his records in an office move!

The Place Profits sales page claims a strike rate of over 65% but during the trial the strike rate was 59% with 153 winning bets from 258 qualifiers. Having said all this, the service did make a profit during the three month trial period. Place Profits 1 made + 8.47 points and Place Profits 2 made + 3.48 points, a combined profit of 11.95 points net of 5% Betfair commission, using Betfair SPs.

Even so, an average 4 points profit per month during the trial period is not much to shout about and would require stakes of £10 per bet just to break even. Many qualifiers were favourites or second favourites with very short prices around 1.50 or shorter which held profits back.

Strike Rate: 59.3% (153/258)

Cumulative P/L: + 8.47 points (Place Profits 1)

Cumulative P/L: + 3.48 points (Place Profits 2)

Combined P/L: + 11.95 points

In summary, I recommend Place Profits is placed in the PASSED category as it did make a net profit during the trial but only with the minimum 2.5 stars as the net gain was not that impressive.

Blogger's Corner

Please send your e-mail contributions to the Bloggers Corner to me at rich@bettingssystemtruths.com .

Here's a question from Ed Glenn.

Hi Sgt Rich.

I just got a great ad regarding a system called "Winter Race Secrets" I would sure appreciate your thoughts.

Thanks for a great site.
All the best,
glenn

Any readers got any experience of Winter Race Secrets?

Meanwhile I took a look at the sales page and consulted the Free Mini Scam Course and ran it through the MOT points in that course

The registrant of the site is "Steve Tenpenny" from Barnsley.
The signature on the sales page is "Walter"
The ClickBank seller is "swishoffer" Google shows that this merchant has also sold the "5 Step Lay" system, the website for which says it is now sold out.
There are no past results available from the sales page.

For me the lack of past results to prove the claims is a huge negative. I am also averse to websites that ask you to think again before quitting them – but that's just my opinion.

Rich.

Here's a question from Sam:

Hi
Can someone explain to me the word "yield"

If there is a system lets say a "horse racing system" where you need 1,000 pound as a betting bank, so this money would be your investment, in the first month your profit was 200.00 pound, the second month 185.00 pound and the third month 90.00 this is only an example of course.

can you tell me the yield and also explain how it is worked out.

Many Thanks

I'm not sure what the definition of yield would be. Anyone able to help Sam?

Soccer Overs – Over and Over

As promised, I ran the Soccer Overs results for the 84 day trial through various staking plans.

In the graph above, the gold line is the running balance to Betfair prices using the £100 bank and aggressive £10 stakes, as per the recommendation from Dave (the author of the tips).

The red line uses a varying stake depending upon results. Starting with £10 bets, if there is a losing day, the stake is increased by £5 per day until there is a winning day, when £5 is taken off the stakes for the next day until they return to the base level of £10.

The blue line is a staking plane suggested by Karl, where the stake is 5% of the bank, adjusted up or down at the end of each day.

The green line is an idea of Dave's where the match with the longest odds each day (usually 3 bets per day) is put on a treble. On Betfair this means if you have a winner, you put the full returns (stake + profit) onto the next bet the next day and then again on the next.

The overall strike rate was 67% with average Betfair prices of 1.76.

The red staking system (adjusted per day) is the riskiest (losing approx £130 at one point). So a starting bank of over £100 would be required. But the profit is about £100 more than the standard (gold line).

The blue (5% of bank) is the safest as the stakes reduce during a losing run, but the profits increase during a winning run.

[\[Click Here To See Soccer Overs\]](#)

League Table

The systems under review have different starting banks, different stakes and some systems have variable stakes. A reasonable way of comparing the performance of systems is to work out the profit (or loss) as a percentage of the starting bank and to average this out over the number of the days of the review.

Sports Bet Gold and Champion Draws are way out in front, both having made more than 100% profit on their starting banks.

Obviously this table doesn't replace reading the reviews, because profit %age of bank per day is not the only factor in judging a system. Nevertheless, I think it gives a valid comparison and an at-a-glance way of bringing the mass of data together.

System Reviewed	Start Bank	Profit /Loss	Profit as %age of Bank	Days Reviewed	%age per Day	Position Last Week	Position This Week
