INTRODUCTION

Hi Folks,

This week we have just one Final Review and no New Reviews. We have several Final Reviews in the pipeline. Hopefully they will make it into next week's newsletter.

The reviews for Betfair Success Formula and Betting Profits Soccer are continuing again now that the football season is up and running. The star new performers this week are "Beaten Females" and the newly re-calculated "The Betplan", with Bonus Bagging and Sprint Lay Expert still the front-runners.

We'd like to hear from you, please contact me by e-mail via the Bloggers Corner at rich@bettingssystemtruths.com

The Low Lay – Final Review

The Low Lay Long Term Betting Profits With Low Priced Horse Racing Lay Tips

14th September 2011

Sergeant Rich – Reviews The Low Lay

A quick reminder: this service is a tipping service where you get one horse racing lay bet per day (occasionally there is a no-bet day). The recommended lays are sent to you by email. As the name suggests the selections are at low odds and there is a recommended maximum odds that you should not exceed.

Usually this maximum is 3.0 but sometimes the advice is to use a lower maximum that you should lay at. If the odds available on Betfair (or BetDAQ) are higher than the maximum advised, you can simply set a lay bet at the maximum and wait to see if your odds are matched. If it hasn't been met by the race time you can leave your lay bet to go in-play. There were a few times during the review when our bets went in-play. But our bets were always matched at the maximum level and often we got a lay at lower than max. odds.

A disappointing final outcome. After an initial good start, the balance has been in decline for many days now. The starting bank of £1,000 rose as high as £1,431.50 on day 29, but has regularly fallen since.

Forty-five winning Lay bets, twenty-nine losing Lay bets = 63% Strike Rate.

The strike rate is OK, but just not high enough for regular profit.

I did say in my introduction, that although the website shows regular profit over time, there was a period, where if we had reviewed it, we would have had to fail it. This may be another of those periods, but as it has lost money over the 84 day trial period, I have no alternative but to fail the service.

E-mail notifications of the tips has been regular and reliable and at least when we lay a horse that goes on to win, the losses are low, due to the low odds. So you are not going to lose money very fast, but also you are not going to make profits unless the success rate improves.

If you want to compare my results with the Low Lay website results, bear in mind my review started on the 2nd June and I've had a few no-bet days and missed days. The website reports to £100 stakes (which would need a £2,000 pot). I used a £1,000 pot and £50 stakes. The recommended bank is 20 points and 1 point stakes. So for my review I used 1 point equal to £50. See my Intro for full details of this.

The cost of the Low Lay tips is £29.99 per month. So for this review period it would have cost about £90.

Summary of results

Starting Bank: 20 points £1,000

Profit/Loss: -5.79 points -£289.50

Cumulative Bank: 14.21 points £710.50

45 winning Lay bets, 29 losing Lay bets = 63% Strike Rate.

Total liability on all bets: 141.97 points

Average lay price: 2.92

Return on Liability (ROL): -4.08%

So a loss means that this review has to fail The Low Lay service

PS Thelowlay.com now feeds through to BetPrecision.com so it looks like the author is re-vamping his product although the Low lay tips are still coming through unaltered.

This section gives a quick insight how each review is performing. The data in Blue is from BettingSystemTruths.com. The data in Dark Violet is from LayTheOdds.com

Systems: These are a set of rules that are used to make selection criteria. These rules are hard and fast without room for interpretation or discretion.

Methods or Strategies: These services are based upon loose rules or advices that are applied, with skill, by the user of the service.

Tips: You receive tips from the service provider of back or lay bets and you back the tips to the recommended stakes or to level stakes.

League Table of Current Reviews

Return to Contents/Index of this newsletter

A reasonable way of comparing the performance of systems is to work out the profit (or loss) as a percentage of the starting bank. Obviously this table doesn't replace reading the reviews, because profit as %age of bank is not the only factor in judging a system. Nevertheless, it is a valid at-a-glance way of bringing the mass of data together.

I've colour coded the reviews that are the currently most successful, with the colour of their profitability graph to make them easier to spot.

Lucian has re-started the review of The Horse That Should Win using the betting bot supplied, so that one starts again in the table. You can still see the previous findings in his Blog.

Turf Wars has crashed this week. Beaten Females has shot up to #4

Profitability Graph

Here is a graph of the profit being made by the front-runners as a percentage of their starting bank. This gives a week by week comparative view of their progress.

It gives a representation of the volatility or dependability of each system. Ideally we would want a graph that increased each week by roughly the same amount. If a system or tipping service could produce that, then we would really have a winning review!

The graph is getting a little congested. I think I will have to take the less successful ones off it next week. Beaten Females and The Betplan have done well this week. But Sprint Lay Expert and Bonus Bagging are still way out in front.
