INTRODUCTION

Hi Folks,

This week we have one New Review and one Final Review.

We have the Final Review of Tandem Lays, which has been placed in the neutral category, neither a pass nor a fail.

This week, we only have just two current reviews that are making a sizable profit. ExBookie has reached the end of the trial period with a 200% profit of the starting bank. Assured Soccer Profits continues to increase steadily, week by week, since its shaky start.

We'd like to hear from you, please contact me by e-mail via the Bloggers Corner at rich@bettingssystemtruths.com

Winning Trainers – Introduction

How To Bet More Like The Insiders Do...

Warning: The Biggest 'Name' Trainers Do NOT Make Profits For Punters... 3rd Dec 2011

Hi Bloggers,

Just a brief intro to my latest review.

Winning Trainers Introduction

I will be delving into the world of 'Winning Trainers' for the next 3 months. (hopefully)

Basically this will be a backing to win and backing each way on 'qualifying' selections where the odds range is between certain limits.

The qualifiers will come from a list of 24 'super trainers' whose record in certain types of races have shown a very good level of profitability over the last 3 years or so.

In the pdf file, The 'dirty two dozen' super trainers report, you will receive a full list of the 24 trainers with a 'pay special attention' section on each trainer as to which particular races to target based on various factors such as class, going, jockey, distance, etc.

You will also get access to the Winning Trainers daily members section where the list of 'potential' qualifiers is given each day.

The cost of the service is £19.99 per month + VAT of course. You can alternatively get 3 months for £39.99 + VAT saving about 80 quid a year!

For the review I will be reporting on all qualifying selections, with separate banks of 1000pts each for win and each way betting.

I will bet 10pts on the win and 10pts each way on all qualifying selections.

Here's to a long and successful run! All the best,

Inspector Tommy.

Tandem Lays – Final Review

29th November 2011

Inspector Magnifique – Tandem Lays Final Review

Rating: Neutral

84 days is usually enough to see how a system or a service performs and to give a verdict. I feel that this is not the case this time and 84 days is not enough. Why? Well, the service suggests laying at high liabilities and the profit we've achieved can be wiped out by one or two losing selections. I'll get into detail about it a bit later.

As seen from the review the service provided two types of selections – Tandem Lays and No.1 Lays. From 84 days 17 had no selections for both types. There were several days when there were selections but they didn't end as bets because did not satisfy the price filter or were withdrawn from their races.

Tandem Lays:

Selections arrived on 60 days, no selections on 7 days.
Number of selections: 140 (85 qualifying bets, 55 no bets)
Winning selections: 78
Losing selections: 7
Strike rate: 91.8%
Average odds of losing selections: 10.1
P/L: +14.25 pts

No.1 Lays:

Selections arrived on 24 days, no selections on 43 days.
Number of selections: 94 (28 qualifying bets, 66 no bets)
Winning selections: 25
Losing selections: 3
Strike rate: 89.3%
Average odds of losing selections: 7.25
P/L: +13.15 pts

Profitability:

Although, both sets of selections showed profit, the figures are not really impressive. Actually, it's not the figures that I'm worried about it's the horses that are suggested to lay, very high prices (to my taste). Most selection are layed between 6.0 and 20.0. Only one or two poor lays can wipe all of the profit for 3 months! Now this is something no one wants to experience and it's definitely something that might happen. During the review Tandem Lays struggled to be in profit. It was down by nearly 20 points early and when we seemed to have recovered a couple of losers for us and again almost 20 points down. A long period of profitable lays came and we achieved overall profit. It was wiped out on Day 63, two months since the start and we stood almost where we'd started from. Pretty frustrating. The biggest loss was -12 pts. We also got -11 pts twice.

No.1 Lays performed better and despite there were a lot less selections showed nearly the same profit. Nevertheless, all problems mentioned above apply to No.1 Lay as well. Our biggest loss was -10 pts.

Now you may have already guessed why I think 84 days were not enough, simply because in a couple of days after the review had finished the service might have gone back to where we started. On the contrary, it also might have hit a long winning run. You never know.

So, the final figures give us an average profit of +0.33 pts a day and 9.15 pts a month from both sets of selections. Not bad actually, but downswings are sharp.

I used 500 pts for each system, so the bank has grown by 2.85% for Tandem Lays and 2.63% for No.1 Lays. The trial proved 100 pts bank (for each set of selections) would be enough with this service. That would give us 14.25% and 13.15% respectively. 3 stars out of 5

Weekly Profit/Loss for both systems

Ease of use and time spent:

Selections are mailed directly to your inbox. A lot of non-qualifiers is something I don't like much, especially when all daily selections turn to no bets. The alternative is to set up a bot to place bets for you. The vendor does not provide one, but almost any bot will do. There are strict filters and if the selection does not match them - no bet. When to place your bets is up to you, no guidelines. The vendor leaves it up to you. If you decide to do it manually some time before a race, there may be a problem as those prices tend to drift out often. So, I suggest using a bot, which also saves plenty of your time. 4 stars out of 5

Risk:

I've touched upon this earlier – way too high liabilities for me. Personally, I don't like the idea of making straight lay bet at such odds without a chance to limit your losses somehow. This can be very dangerous.

The bank of 500 pts proved to be super safe for this system, and you'd better have sufficient funds in your account. That would make you accept losses and save you from negative emotions. However, I feel 500 pts with 1 pt stake on a selection is probably too much. The trial proved 100 pts bank would be enough, but I'd suggest having a bank of 200 pts.

Of course, if you are cold-blooded, have nerves of steel and feel pretty comfortable with those liabilities you can neglect all this. 2 stars out of 5

Return on Liability (ROL):

Tandem Lays: 1.6%

No.1 Lays: 4.9%

No.1 Lays seems ok, but Tandem Lays ROL looks like it's not worth it. 2 stars out of 5

With £40 a month for the service and that level of profitability, we should stake at least £20 pounds to make it worthwhile. This in turn means we could have liabilities as high as £380 and would need a bank of £2000.

I'm afraid I can't give it 3 star rating which is the minimum to be among passed products and so I am giving it a neutral rating, with a view to re-reviewing it at some point.

Now don't be fooled by the word 'neutral'. You can make profit with Tandem Lays, but this is going to be a tough challenge. I wish the vendor to keep on doing his job and providing profits for his subscribers.

Overall I give it 2.5 stars out of 5

League Table of Current Reviews

Return

A reasonable way of comparing the performance of systems is to work out the profit (or loss) as a percentage of the starting bank. Obviously this table doesn't replace reading the reviews, because profit as %age of bank is not the only factor in judging a system. Nevertheless, it is a valid at-a-glance way of bringing the mass of data together.

I've colour coded the reviews that are the currently most successful, with the colour of their profitability graph (next newsletter section) to make them easier to spot.

Again this week, like last week, ExBookie and Assured Soccer Profits are the only two reviews making a sizable profit.

Profitability Graph

Return to Contents/Index

Here is a graph of the profit being made by the front-runners as a percentage of their starting bank. This gives a week by week comparative view of their progress.

It gives a representation of the volatility or dependability of each system. Ideally we would want a graph that increased each week by roughly the same amount. If a system or tipping service could produce that, then we would really have a winning review!

Unfortunately several previously successful reviews have gone into an unprofitable phase, leaving us with just two front-runners. ExBookie has reached the end of the trial period with a 200% profit of the starting bank. Assured Soccer Profits continues to increase steadily, week by week, since its shaky start.
