Bettingflow – Introduction

16th January 2012

Insp Karl introduces the Bettingflow tipping service

Hello Bloggers,

I have been tasked with reviewing a brand new service called Bettingflow, what is striking to note first off is that this service is not affiliated with any other service or umbrella corporation. A rare breed in today's world.

Bettingflow picks are made up from a mixture of tips concerning injuries, reserves, and expert analysis on a wide range of topics the service also includes tips based on the amount of money being placed in Eastern European countries, these are commonly referred to as Betting Syndicates and the one bet that had this information won comfortably.

Sports that are bet on include most spectrums from Volleyball to Basketball, football et al. Bettingflow only launched two weeks ago and has started very promisingly; the service is expensive coming in at 149 euros per month, which is roughly £125, so you would need to be a fairly large stake player to warrant that subscription. Odds do tend to move reasonably quickly especially on European basketball and volleyball for example. All bets issued have been available at the main bookmakers. Tips are issued by email, at present there is no SMS option, there does not seem to be a set time for tips, which one would expect as the tips are based on information so obviously that information can come in at any time, so you would need to have access to your email throughout the day. There is no detailed explanation of the tips, they do contain a reason for that bet however, which is just the basic reason. Having spoken to the owner he is confident of achieving 20 ROI% which for a sports service is very ambitious, the usual parameters apply we will do an initial review of 56 days and then extend that review if things are going well.

Greyhound LayPRO – Introduction

The initial review of Greyhound LayPRO will be for 56 "betting days", and may be extended to 84 "betting days", depending on its performance.

The initial bank will be 100 points and 1 point level stake and 10 as maximum odd as vendor recommended.

For this review I'll use Grey Horse Bot. The bot is set to enter in market with 33 seconds before the start.

Thank you for your time and I hope you enjoy the review.

NFL Betting System – Final Review

16th January 2012

Passed: ★★★★★

Inspector DJ – Reviews NFL Betting System

Hello Bloggers,

NFL Betting System is a Baseball (Major League Baseball), Basketball (National Basketball Association), Ice Hockey and American Football (National Football League) selections service.

The website states that the selections for the National Football League are 100 percent successful for the last twenty-seven years!!

The monthly subscription fee is $150.00 per month (approximately £97.00 per month), and additionally the manual to create the selections for the NFL costs $99.99 (approximately £65.00), which will also give a month's free access to the membership area.

Upon receipt of the selections, I visited Oddsportal to collect the odds available. I only used sportsbooks that have an A or B rating at Sportsbook Review (www.sportsbookreview.com).

During the course of the review, some selections of course do not win. However, there is a loss recovery plan to recoup monies lost on those selections that do not go the way expected.

The baseball selections are always advised to be made without the starting pitchers, so that the bet stands regardless, and is advised to be on the Moneyline (a straight win bet) or the Run Line (where one team gives or receives a 1.5 run handicap).

This created an issue as most UK based bookmakers, and for that matter the likes of Pinnacle et al list the pitcher, in my opinion, as this is how they have calculated the "risk" to their potential loss. In baseball, the games effectively commence via the pitcher, some are left handed, some are right, and batsmen are often known to be more effective on one side rather than another.

This meant, for the purpose of the review, that I found a very limited number of sportsbooks where the bets could be placed (Bodog, Coral*, Eurobet*, Gamebooker, Paddy Power* and Partybets). The sportsbooks with a * could receive a bet IF they didn't list the pitcher at the time of the bet being placed.

During the course of the review, bets were advised on three of the American Sports – NBA, NFL and NHL. There was a lockout of the Basketball players, which eventually was resolved, and their season started on Christmas Day.

The results from the individual sports were as follows:

Major League Baseball

Matches played: 46

Wins: 33

Loss: 13

Strike Rate: 71.7%

Series played: 33

Wins: 28

Strike Rate: 84.8%

Profit on staking plan: £269.33

Profit to level stakes: £72.60

National Hockey League

Matches played: 168

Wins: 110

Loss: 58

Strike Rate: 65.5%

Profit on staking plan: £260.24

Profit to level stakes: £28.08

National Football League

Matches played: 40

Wins: 19

Loss: 21

1 void

Strike rate: 47.5%

Profit on staking plan: £198.47

Profit to level stakes: -£26.47

Grand Totals:

Bets placed: 254
Wins: 162
Loss: 92
Strike rate: 63.7%

Advised Staking Plan:

Starting balance: £1000.00.
Profit achieved: £728.04.
Final balance: £1728.04.
Total stakes placed: £15544.92.
Return on investment: 4.7%

Level Stakes:

Starting balance: £1000.00.
Profit achieved: £74.21.
Final balance: £1074.21.
Total stakes placed: £2540.00
Return on investment: 2.9%.

In addition to this, the review ran from 22nd August to 22nd December. The monthly fees would have totaled £388.00 during the period.

Profitability

A return of almost 5% from a system is a fair rate of return, of course, it must be borne in mind that you have the subscription fees to pay from this, which with a £1000 bank would have reduced the rate of return to around half the figure I have shown above. Of course, with a bigger bank, the reduction in profits would be less.

During the course of the review, a level staking plan would need to be of a much greater size than I used to be profitable overall. Rating: 3.5.

Ease of Use

The selections are provided as part of the monthly subscription fee, so apart from receiving the emails and placing the bets, there is little for the subscriber to do. During the period of the review, the staking advice was changed slightly from the member working out the value of the bets to be placed, to being advised what the bet should be. There is also a members area, should the email not arrive as a backup. Rating 4.

Risk

The staking plan used by NFL Betting System is where I believe this service has its Achilles heel. Losses are recouped from the next bet or set of bets, and is a progressive staking plan, over three bets. However, should a series of three bets lose, during the course of the review, some of those losses were attempted to be recouped from a future series.

On day 30, two bets were advised with total stakes of £866, from a bank of £1002 from the previous day. One won, the other did not.

On day 31, a further stake of £789 was made from a bank of £906 from the previous day. Thankfully, it won.

The National Football league also saw some fairly hefty bets, as the plan was to win 5 points, 10 points or 20 points in the progression.

There was a bet issued for Arizona to beat San Francisco at Candlestick Park on November 20th (Day 55), where 40 points were advised to be won, at the time of the post, I said that the only bookmaker offering the point spread of +11.0 points was Bet 365. Would you be able to place a bet of £520 to win £400 at Bet 365? I know that I would not be able to, and I suspect I would not be alone.

It could be said that a roller coaster ride is on the cards with the stakes being placed and bets being won, and that you will need to have some courage at times. Rating 2.

Time Required

The amount of time, depending on the number of bets, would vary from around 10 minutes to half an hour, depending on the number sent. However, I found from experience of the Hockey bets coming through, sometimes they would only be coming into my mailbox at 10.00pm, and occasionally later than that, so the early retirees amongst you may have to wait a little longer to go to bed. However, the American Football bets were generally issued on a Thursday. Rating 3.

Overall rating 3.5.

Passed: ★★★★★

Overall, NFL Betting System made a profit. However, you will need to be comfortable with a progressive type staking plan, and the roller coaster nature that can happen with stakes that are made to recoup previous losses. Although with a larger bank the profits would have been higher in value, the up and down side to the bank would still be there. The service, at £100.00 per month, is more expensive than a great number on the market.

Until the next time,

Inspector DJ

League Table of Current Reviews

Return

A reasonable way of comparing the performance of systems is to work out the profit (or loss) as a percentage of the starting bank. Obviously this table doesn't replace reading the reviews, because profit as %age of bank is not the only factor in judging a system. Nevertheless, it is a valid at-a-glance way of bringing the mass of data together.

I've colour coded the reviews that are the currently most successful, with the colour of their profitability graph (next newsletter section) to make them easier to spot.

This week, the Gold Horse Gold System has moved into 2nd place. TFT Silver has moved into 3rd – I haven't added it onto the graph as the review period for it has finished. But four out of five TFT systems are in profit.

Profitability Graph

Return to Contents/Index

Here is a graph of the profit being made by the front-runners as a percentage of their starting bank. This gives a week by week comparative view of their progress.

It gives a representation of the volatility or dependability of each system. Ideally we would want a graph that increased each week by roughly the same amount. If a system or tipping service could produce that, then we would really have a winning review!
