Odds On Ron - Days 79 to 81

2 January 2013

Hi, Sgt Colin here, with the latest update on the performance of the Odds On Ron system.

I initially started with a bank of 100 points, staking 1 point per selection (using level stakes) and aiming to return c4 points per day (using the staking plan). After 78 days we were 7.7 points down to level stakes, but UP 167.9 points using the advised staking plan.

Day 79 - 26th December

BST Newsletter © BettingSystemTruths 2013

The run up to Christmas meant that Boxing Day was the next day I could make selections. With plenty of racing going on, we made 12 selections, but none of them came in first. Having said that, 5 were placed, including the 2nd & 3rd races. The latter was at odds against in the Place market, so we "stopped at a winner" using level stakes. Not a good day using the staking plan, the bank was down to 215.5 points.

Day 80 - 31st December

11 more selections today. Using staking Plan I restricted the win target to 40 points in order to keep stakes at sensible levels. The first selection came 3rd at place odds of 2.9, so we stopped at a winner for level stakes betting. The 5th selection was a winner in a 4 horse race at odds of 6.6, generating 42.6 points profit, but we continued to target 40 points profit with the next selection (as we needed to recover losses from earlier days). Having suffered a 16 race losing run, we had a 2nd successive winner - and this was at the juicy odds of 11.71, having been selected at much shorter odds. A massive gain of 106.4 points on one race! We stopped at this winner, but in the event there were 2 more winners from later selections.

Day 81 - 1st January

A massive 14 selections on New Year's Day. The first 2 selections were running simultaneously - and the first of these was a winner @ 9.6. We stopped at that point (a good move as none of the remaining selections won!)

Updated results are:

Staking Plan: Initial bank 100 Total Staked 1743 points Profit 230.3 points Closing Bank 330.3 ROI 13%

Level Stakes: Initial bank 100 Total staked 369 points Loss 0.6 points Closing Bank 99.4 ROI -0%

We have achieved a 18% hit rate on win bets (47 wins), and 47% of selections have placed (or won).

Only 2 days after today - so whatever happens now we are bound to end with a positive performance using the staking plan. It would be good to end on a positive figure using level stakes too.

Speed Ratings - Introduction

Sgt Colin Introduces Speed Ratings

Hi, Sgt Colin here, with my latest review for BettingSystemtruths.com. I am going to review the Speed Ratings service provided by Paul Fowlie, a straightforward-to-use horseracing tipping service which selects horses to lay on the betting exchanges (Slow Horses) and to back (Fast Horses). The selections are provided by e-mail usually by 8.30 a.m on the day of racing. Whilst tips are provided daily, the Fast Horses selections are only counted as account bets at weekends.

Slow horse selections must have odds at 15.0 or below for bets to be placed, with full point stakes if the odds are below 8, half point stakes if the odds are between 8 and 15.

Fast Horse selections are backed to win and place (1 point each way).

The service currently costs £300 per annum, with an option to pay over 4 months, £75 each month

I shall therefore be monitoring the performance of both Speed Ratings services, using Betfair SP as the odds, starting with a 75 point bank for each.

Historically the results have been good for these services. I look forward to seeing how the Speed Ratings service performs over our trial period, which will initially be 56 days, and which may be extended to 84 days if the results are promising.

The Golden Key Method 2 Updated - Introduction

December 31st 2012

Sgt George Introduces The Golden Key Method 2 Updated

Hi Bloggers

My name is George Burton i am 43 years old , i live in London i have 2 children a boy and a girl. Now i have been following horse racing methods and systems for around 20 years when i was given the chance to review GKM2 updated i did not hesitate although i was some what concerned that the previous review was carried out by Sgt Dave who was a bit of a legend in BST history, anyway i will do my best to provide you folks with the best review i can do.

From the same stable as All By The Book comes the Golden Key Method 2, the original Golden Key was launched in 2008 now this made money but was restricted because at that time there was only 2 bookmakers that the method could use and not any bots that could be used either. So onto the new version Golden Key Method 2 updated this is Version 6 it has 9 bookmakers it can use now and a choice of bots to make life easier, it comes with 5 variants of the method. Now variants 3, 3L15 and 4 use Betfair but as is mentioned in the manual these are absolutely nowhere near as profitable as Variants 1 and 2 and for the purpose of this review i shall concentrate on the latter two. About an hour of your time maybe more is required depending on the amount of races, starting around 11:30am to 12 noon for this time of year, subject to when racing is due to start. It is also mentioned in the manual that sometimes the markets are slow to form so it might be necessary on occasions to do several sweeps of the meetings if you have a shortage of selections. On Variant 1 you place your bets on a Bot or follow the races live its up to you, with Variant 2 you have to follow the races live as this is active trading around a minute before the off. Besides the bookies accounts you also need to have a Betfair account, as regards betting bank the website indicates 100 points, although i would suggest you need to have a top up bank in reserve. You would probably have to put some time aside in the evening just to check on the status of your betting accounts and do some money management this is where a top up bank would come in useful, as you would not want to make continuous withdrawals from the bookmakers. So is this the same method as All By The Book?, the answer is no, but it does have insurance built into limit losses to minimize risk.

Currently Golden Key Method 2 is priced at 87 pounds so what do you get for your money well a manual through an exe file in which you have to send an e-mail to get a product key to unlock it although this may seem a pain it is to stop pirating. There is no padding, all the Variants are discussed and examples shown also how to use LaybotPro and Fairbot with the method. There is also a link to a resources page which is very useful it has 5 videos on how to use the method and covers the different variants, download link for a spreadsheet which not only keeps a record of your bets but works out P/L for all variants, there is also a video on how to use the spreadsheet as well, other items on the resource page are links to the Bots, Bestbetting, Oddschecker, Arb cruncher plus a couple more.

So what about profits as per the website well there was no overall figures only monthly breakdowns but i have calculated that from May 2010 to August 2012 (There was 2 months missing) a profit of around 1689 points was made to 1 point stakes on Variation 1. For Variation 2 for the same period 1598 points profit if we divide the figures by the 26 months of results Variation 1 averages 65.31 points profit per month and for Variation 2 a profit of 61.46 points per month. Just to give you the difference in profit levels between Variations 1 and 2 and the Betfair Variants the best of the Betfair ones was Variant 4 which made 279 points in 23 months that equates to a profit of 12.13 points per month average. To be honest there was not a lot in it as regards the Betfair Variants just a few points so the average monthly profit would be around 12 points for all of them. I understand that the results for the months of September, October, and November 2012 will be added to the website soon. Looking at the results Variations 1 and 2 have not had a losing month although there was one month when Variation 1 only made 3.52 points profit the lowest achieved by Variation 2 was 20.65 points so it appears a bit more balanced than the other Variant but we shall see.

For the purpose of this review i shall be using Variants 1 and 2 , and giving the number of selections and recording P/L from the worksheet provided, the starting bank for both will be 100 points Variation 1 will use 1 point level stakes of course Variation 2 being a trading approach points stakes will vary. Please folks do not ask me to name selections or odds because i cannot, otherwise it would compromise the method and i have no wish to fall out with the author /publisher over this. Anyway i believe the principle of the method is sound enough, but lets see what happens over the next 56 or 84 days of the review, i shall commence the review on the 1st of January 2013. Have a Happy New Year everyone.

League Table of Reviews

Return

A reasonable way of comparing the performance of systems is to work out the profit (or loss) as a percentage of the starting bank. Obviously this table doesn't replace reading the reviews, because profit as %age of bank is not the only factor in judging a system. Nevertheless, it is a valid at-a-glance way of bringing the mass of data together.

The league table now includes systems that have finished their reviews as well.

We have twenty eight reviews that have made a profit of over 15%.
