INTRODUCTION

Hi Folks,

It's been a quiet week, this week. I've included an interim review of Betting Profits which has failed, all except for the soccer system, which will continue for 84 days.

While the BettingSystemsTruths website was being moved to a new server last week, I lost the use of my e-mail address for a few days. If you wrote to me and didn't get a reply or your submission is not in this newsletter, please accept my apologies and feel free to send me the message again.

The results reported in the newsletter now also include the Monday results reported by our reviewers. This makes the league table and graph even more up to date when you receive the newsletter on the Wednesday morning.

On our League Table, Turf Wars has asserted itself at the top with a 200% profit! You can get your FREE 5-day trial of it here....

We'd like to hear from you, please contact me by e-mail via the Bloggers Corner at rich@bettingssystemtruths.com

Betting Profits – Interim Review

19th May

Sergeant Rich Reviews Betting Profits

The 56-day review period is over and we are in a very strange position. The software that I am reviewing is failed, as far as I am concerned.

The software works out odds, based upon trying to make more profit when the shorter priced selection wins. It is a simple piece of software, but there are faults with it. For example if you select total stakes of 100 points, the stakes are worked out automatically, but don't always total up to exactly 100! Also sometimes the predicted profit is not correct when you check it on a normal calculator.

The software doesn't install correctly as per the manual and you have to find the path to the program because the shortcuts don't work or are not created. Then it stopped working when I upgraded to a Windows 7 laptop. I contacted the vendor to report the problem and never got a reply! I thought I was going to have to abandon the review but worked out a fix of my own, to work around the fact that the software wouldn't load standardly. Although the software is cheap, that doesn't excuse the fact that it is flaky around the edges.

For the soccer matches, I compared the profits achieved by the software's recommended stakes, versus a simple dutching of the selections to earn an even profit whatever the successful selection. I used the free arbcruncher website to do this and over the 56 days it has consistently produced higher profit using flat dutching than the varied stakes of Betting Profits.

Therefore I have to conclude that the software is worse to use and produces less profit than the free arbcruncher.

There are three "systems" included in the manual that comes with the software. The boxing and horse racing systems have made a loss and so are also failed. The manual gives some general suggestions as regards soccer, rather than system rules. Because the advice was non-specific, I decided to formulate some fixed rules for soccer, based upon the advice in the manual and including some of my ideas. This is so far, a successful system. So after 56 days we have a failed piece of software and generally failed systems accompanying it and we are left simply reviewing my own system.

I think, personally it would be better for someone else to review my system, but we have linked it to the Betting Profits product and made it available to those who purchase the software.

This soccer system is producing profit, but the strange position is that it is basically my system, adapted from the Betting Profits advice. So we have ended up reviewing my system rather than Betting Profits!

Anyway, for now, we will continue the review for the soccer and drop the other failed systems. Matches are getting harder to find due to it coming to the end of the season and many matches are not properly competitive. Anyway we'll see how it continues

So far we have had bets on 56 soccer matches with 44 winning bets and 12 losing bets, which is an 78.5% strike rate. We've had 23 winning horse race bets and 13 losing bets (64% strike rate). We got 2 winning boxing matches out of 5, which is a 40% strike rate.

This is a graph showing the three systems during the 56 days and with a simple dutching system for the soccer:

Current Reviews

Now includes all data reported by our reviewers up to Monday night.

This section covers all the current reviews being conducted and gives a quick insight how each review is performing. I have now described which type of service each one is.

Systems: These are a set of rules that are used to make selection criteria. These rules are hard and fast without room for interpretation or discretion.

Methods or Strategies: These services are based upon loose rules or advices that are applied, with skill, by the user of the service.

Tips: You receive tips from the service provider of back or lay bets and you back the tips to the recommended stakes or to level stakes.

League Table of Current Reviews

Now includes all data reported by our reviewers up to Monday night.

The systems under review have different starting banks, different stakes and some systems have variable stakes. A reasonable way of comparing the performance of systems is to work out the profit (or loss) as a percentage of the starting bank.

I've colour coded the six reviews that are the currently most successful, with the colour of their profitability graph to make them easier to spot.

Obviously this table doesn't replace reading the reviews, because profit as %age of bank is not the only factor in judging a system. Nevertheless, I think it gives a valid comparison and an at-a-glance way of bringing the mass of data together.

System Reviewed	Start Bank	Total Profit /Loss	Profit as %age of Bank	Position Last Week	Position This Week

Profitability Graph

Here is a graph of the profit being made by the front-runners as a percentage of their starting bank. This gives a week by week comparative view of their progress.

It gives a representation of the volatility or dependability of each system. Ideally we would want a graph that increased each week by roughly the same amount. If a system or tipping service could produce that, then we would really have a winning review!

Turf Wars has kept up its fantastic success and Sprint Lay Expert has also had a good week.

Bloggers Corner

Admin, Gordon has requested suggestions from readers for Systems, Strategies and Tipping Services they would like to see reviewed. Just send the suggestions to me, at my usual address, rich@bettingssystemtruths.com and I'll pass them on to him. Here's a contribution from Graham:

Hi folks, I'm wondering if you have ever reviewed BETALAY, which appears to be very simple, focussing on races with 8 or more runners. Sounds too good to be true to me, as they claim an 88% SR! Be interested in your comments.

Regards Graham

Hi Graham

Jon wrote a useful article on the Betting rants website recently, called "The Safe Lay Formula" – That will help you evaluate Betalay. According to Jon's formula the maximum lay odds you should accept are 7.92 for that success rate. Have I worked that out correctly Jon?
