INTRODUCTION

Hi Folks,

I've started incorporating the best of the LayTheOdds reviews into our newsletter. So from now on, the BST newsletter will include even more product reviews! In the Current Reviews section of this newsletter, the LayTheOdds reviews are in violet to help differentiate them

The results, league table and profitability graph include Tuesday evening reports, making the newsletter as up to date as possible when you receive the newsletter on the Wednesday morning.

Turf Wars has got back to winning ways! You can get your FREE 5-day trial of it here....

Bonus Bagging, from LayTheOdds has shown great profit in the three weeks of the review.

We'd like to hear from you, please contact me by e-mail via the Bloggers Corner at rich@bettingssystemtruths.com

Winning Formula Exposed – Introduction

3rd July 2011

Inspector Aris - Introduces Winning Formula Exposed

1st July 2011

Hi bloggers!

This is Inspector Aris and I will be reviewing a horse racing system by Manish Michael and Steve Davidson, called Winning Formula Exposed. Many people like me when it comes to horse racing systems they don't like going through forms, ratings and long lists of stats and they prefer simple rules to follow so before we start I think it is better for you to know that what we have here is a system based on simple rules and not stats analysis.

Winning Formula Exposed is a 33 page pdf where everything looks so clear about the strategy and rules involved in this system. Only 2 pages describes the strategy and the rules and all the other pages are examples of races we bet and races we don't bet so to understand the rules better. Also there are some video tutorials that make everything look simple enough to understand.

There is no in play betting and it takes less than a minute to find our selections at specific period before the race starts. Once we bet on our selections we just move on to the next race. We bet on the same selection in both Win and Place markets and that is something that I like a lot because when it comes to losing streaks there is a big possibility to save money by success in Place markets. Also when we have winning streaks the profits gets bigger.

The selection rules for Winning Formula Exposed are simple enough and without the need of any other stats sites you can check everything from Betfair's coupon page or other bookmaker. Even newbies that dont have a clue about horse racing can follow this system and the rules described. It is not so easy to implement this strategy in a betting bot for auto betting but because you have to wait for the exact time before the race starts to find the correct selection you will have to stay in front of the pc screen all day long and this is something "painful". The authors use 1pt flat level stakes in the results they publish on the Winning Formula Exposed website and this is what we are going to use with a starting bank of 100pts in our review.

For £69.95 this system is promising that you can have a second income on a regular basis. This is not a get rich quick scheme and the results of the last 7 months that are published are a proof of this but here we are going to start a 56 days testing on this to see if it is really working!

The Racing Tipsters –

Final Review

4th July 2011

Hi Bloggers

So we have now reached Day 56 of this review of The Racing Tipsters and as mentioned previously I have had to give it a FAIL as it finished 16.5 points down for the review period or left us with $835 from a $1000 starting bank having $10 flat bets. However, there were some individual tipsters that performed well throughout the course of the review so it may be worth investigating whether they are able to be followed individually going forward.

Tipster	Runners	Winners	Result	$
Diamond RacingDiamond Tips	146	08	-1-22	-10-220
Henry Rix	1	1	1.2	12
Horse King	6	1	5	50
Insider tips	20	1	-7.9	-79
Marvellous Marv	82	8	-49	-490
Outside Chance	10	2	23	230

Paul Emmott	11	2	-1	-10
Phil Whitman	49	8	19.5	195
Racing Winners	24	3	-10.5	-105
Top Racing Tips	80	23	27.2	272
Value Bets	20	2	-1	-10

Finished the review with a flourish, up 14.5 points for the 5 days or $145.

Top Racing Tips was the best performing of the tipsters over the trial of The Racing Tipsters with just over 27 points of profit or $272. Outside Chance was second best with 23 points or $230 profit, qualified by the fact that all of their bets were 2 points so the results are probably magnified slightly. Phil Whitman was a rock throughout the whole trial period and probably the one I'd be most inclined to follow going forward though Top Racing Tips gave out consistent winners but a lot of them 2/1 or shorter.

Marvellous Marv was by far the weakest tipster with a loss of 49 points or $490 over the trial period.

So again that is the end of the 56 day trial and I am going to have to fail The Racing Tipsters service overall with it being down 16.5 points or $165 for the review period.

Regards

Inspector Steve

Laying Spring Profits – Final Review Summary

The banner contains a central photograph of a horse race with several jockeys on their horses. On either side of the photo are two identical tables of betting data. The tables have columns for 'Back', 'Starting Price', and 'Lay'. Below the photo, the text 'LAYING SPRING PROFITS' is written in large, bold, black letters. At the bottom of the banner, there are four smaller text boxes: 'LAYING SPRING PROFITS', 'DAILY SELECTION SERVICE', 'SEASON RESULTS 2011', and 'CONTACT US'.

Sergeant Tony-Reviews Laying Spring Profits 30th June 2011

Hi Bloggers,

Today is 31st May and the final day of the three months for this system review.

You will no doubt be familiar with Chris Castell and his Laying Winter Profits, Laying Summer Profits and Laying Autumn Profits systems. In a somewhat unsurprising move, Chris rounded off the whole offering by announcing the launch of Laying Spring Profits!

Laying Spring Profits runs from 1 March to 31 May and therefore completes the whole twelve month cycle. In March, Laying Spring Profits concentrates on UK National Hunt racing, whilst in April and May Laying Spring Profits concentrates on UK Flat racing. For all three months, the lay odds must lie between 1.75 and 6.30 on Betfair and Chris recommends only putting your lays on a few minutes before the off, to ensure that you can get within this price range. Laying Spring Profits will select horses to lay regardless of their price, so it is quite usual to receive lots of selections for the day that do not end up as qualifying selections because their price is above or below this recommended price range. To keep things simple, Chris uses the Betfair SP when calculating his results, but users of Laying Spring Profits may well obviously get better or worse prices dependent upon the time at which they place their bets.

There were 92 days in the review period from 1st March to 31st May. Of those 92 days, there were 15 days with no qualifying selections and 77 days with qualifying selections. We had a total of 350 selections of which 257 won money for us (i.e. they lost their races) and 93 lost money for us (i.e. they won their races). That gives us an effective strike rate of 73% (equals 257/350).

Throughout the review we staked £100 on each qualifying selection so that £100 equals 1 point at level stakes. After the three months of our review period we recorded a loss of -£1,748 which equates to -17.48 points at level stakes. This is not what the title of the system implies should have happened!

At the end of the first month, March, we were £805 in profit (8.05 points) and at the end of the second month (April) we were still £677 in profit (6.77 points). It all went Pete Tong in May, where we lost a bundle, to put it mildly. Chris said that he had never experienced such a bad month of losses before, but the facts are the facts, as far as our review goes.

The longest consecutive winning run was 20 (we had runs of 15, 12, 11 and 10 on occasions). Believe it or not, our longest consecutive losing run was only 4 – and this only happened twice! The ‘problem’ with this system is that the upper odds limit is set quite high in my opinion (at 6.30) so you don’t need too many lays to go wrong at that price before you start losing large amounts. If a lay wins the race at 6.30 then you obviously need another 5.3 selections to lose their races to break even again. That said, the system was in profit for the first two months of the review, so it may well be that we were just unlucky in May – only time and next year will tell.

The basic system (an easy to understand manual, together with some really comprehensive videos showing you how to use Laying Spring Profits) costs £97 and you have the option to receive the selections by email every day for £198 or £75 per month. On that basis, we would need to have made £97 profit to break even on the manual or £295 to break even on the email selections option. Obviously, as we did not make any profit, these break even figures are somewhat redundant. We cannot calculate a return on liability as we did not make a return!

The manual was very easy to understand and the videos left no doubts as to how to use the system, so full marks to Chris for that side of the deal. The emails were always prompt and reliable, the website results were regularly updated and Chris was quick and helpful in his responses to emails and phone calls with my questions. All in all, Chris offers superb support for all of his systems and is extremely approachable and quick to respond to questions (this is the third of his systems that I have reviewed). He gets full marks for all these areas, which is a shame, as the system was unable to make us any money!

Chris is very keen to point out that he regards all four of his systems as being part of a whole ‘package’ which punters can use to bet all year around. If one of the ‘seasons’ does wobble a little, it should be recouped by the next ‘seasonal’ system. This is an interesting approach. There are many systems out there that only look at All Weather racing, or only look at Flat or NH racing, so there is a lot of merit in his approach of using a month by month set of rules and criteria to allow for different conditions etc.

Despite all of the plus points, with a loss of this size there is no other result but Failed.

I am reviewing Laying Summer Profits next, so let's hope that it fares a little better!

Kind regards

Sgt Tony

Lay Hounds - Final Review

5th July 2011

Review Manager David-Reviews Lay Hounds

Hi Bloggers

Apologise for the lateness of the Final Review but I have been monitoring the results of the Lay Hounds service since the actual review ended to see if there was any improvement but from 21st June to 2nd July inclusive there was 20 selections of which 15 were winning lays this is a 75% strike rate which is actually less than what I achieved on the review, this would have added an additional loss of 8.97 points if I had carried on.

So what is Lay Hounds?

Well it's an e-mail service that provides on average two greyhounds to lay per day Monday to Sunday but Sundays were always no selections.

The Lay Hounds service advised laying no higher than 8/1 but this is the bookies price not Betfair odds. The major problem with laying greyhounds is that you do not have Betfair SP you can check, so prices can be haphazard. The actual percentage difference between the Betfair lay and the bookies win price is even greater than the horses and throw in liquidity issues as greyhounds are a very much a poor cousin when you compare the amount of money staked on a horse race it is not an easy business laying greyhounds..

The best I could do was to follow the live betting on Betfair and get the best lay price available in the last minute before the race was due to start, due to time difference I could not cover all the races but I got prices in over 80 % of them so I was able to work out an average lay odds in relation to the industry price. Now I said at the start that I would be working to no more than 11.00 on the lay market if I show the you the prices of some of the selections below I think you will see why:

			ISP	Betfair
15/05/2011	Romford	21:04	Lambstown Brett	9.00	25.00
21/04/2011	Belle Vue	20:25	Swift Pixy	6.00	42.00
09/05/2011	Romford	19:26	Jaytee Hawk	6.00	12.50
26/05/2011	Romford	16:08	Laurens Lilly	7.00	15.50
02/06/2011	Sheffield	11:57	Dualla Caoimhe	9.00	38.00
17/06/2011	Monmore	15:29	Boher Princess	9.00	14.50

Although none of the above selections won it would have made a serious dent in the starting bank if one of those had gone in, if you had followed the Lay Hounds service advice and layed any selection 8/1 ISP or under the Betfair Price lay odds would have been 47.50% higher on all bets by implementing the Betfair odds of not greater than 11.00 I managed to reduce this to 29.3% still high though. Anyway without further ado let's see what happened during the 56 day review here are the stats for my method of not greater than 11.00 to lay on Betfair.

Lay Hounds to Maximum Betfair Lay Odds of 11.00

Selections 77 / 63 winning Lays = 81.82% Strike Rate

Longest winning Run = 18 (Once), 9 (Once)

Longest Losing Run = 1 (14 times)

Average Lay Price of Selection = 7.33

Average SP of Selection = 5.67

Average Lay Price of Losers = 6.45

Average SP of Losing Lays = 5.04

Profit/Loss = minus 16.51 points

Return on Liability = minus 3.39%

Return On Investment = minus 21.44%

Although the strike rate was not bad it was not sufficient when you have an average lay price on your losing bets of 6.45, if it had obtained prices close to the industry one it might have broken even or made a point or two but we know this is not going to happen but once in a while but not on a regular basis, it should be noted that the results were been shown to the industry price on the webpage so could catch some people out. Moving on how did the profit and loss for Lay Hounds work out over the 8 weeks let's look at the graph below:

Not great, the highest profit it made was 6.79 points when it reached 56.79 points in Week 5 this was with a 50 point starting bank, after week 5 it was downhill if we had continued with the review we would have seen the line drop further down and see half of our starting bank missing. To be fair let's see what the stats show if you just layed any selection 8/1 or under:

Lay Hounds results to 8/1 or under

Selections 83 / 69 winning Lays = 83.12% Strike Rate

Longest winning Run = 19 (Once), 10 (Once)

Longest Losing Run = 1 (14 times)

Average Lay Price of Selection = 8.57

Average SP of Selection = 5.81

Average Lay Price of Losers = 6.45

Average SP of Losing Lays = 5.04

Profit/Loss = minus 10.81 points

Return on Liability = minus 1.72%

Return On Investment = minus 13.02%

Well as we can see there is a few changes from the previous approach namely a 5.70 points improvement in the profit and Loss column, better strike rate, ROI and ROL but to nullify this the average lay price increased by 1.23 points and even the SP increased another 0.77 points, so you could have reduced your losses by taking a chance on laying the high odds greyhounds mentioned earlier. Let's have a look at the graph for this one:

The lines are not quite so sharp at the highest point it almost reached a 10 points profit and now it lies just over 10 points down so the 6 additional winning bets helped things a little but the graph would look a lot more dramatic if one of the large odds obliged - would there be sufficient left in the kitty?.

Conclusion

First of all I would like to say that I received the e-mail selections well on time and not once was a day missed out even when there was no selections so well done to Betfan for that.

So how much does the service cost? Currently you can get at the time of writing this review a 50% discount for the first 28 days so it will cost you 25 pounds thereafter it is 50 pounds for 28 days. We had 19 non betting days this was due to no selections on a Sunday , plus several greyhounds not qualifying due to being outside the 8/1 maximum odds.

I was hoping to report that I had found a different sport we could make money on, but in the end the service did not deliver and there are issues with liquidity and wild variations in odds between the bookies and the Betfair Lays which you have to contend with.

So after 56 days the Lay Hounds service lost on both ways and even following results after the review there was no encouragement as the results were worse than the review period, so I am afraid it's a failed and jailed for this one.

Regards,

Review Manager David

IMPORTANT NEWS ABOUT A CURRENT REVIEW

Hello everyone,

Normally I would not start shouting about something so soon, but I felt I had to make an exception in this case!

You see our reviewer Magnifique has been reviewing a service called Bonus Bagging, as you can guess from the title it is all about using the special offers from bookmakers etc to make some free money, and a lot of the time it is totally risk free!

Magnifique has recently posted week 3 of his review over on laytheodds.com, and I strongly urge you to take a look. Already his starting bank of £250.00 stands at £440.50, that's a profit of over £190.00, with practically no risk involved whatsoever!

So why not take a look <http://laytheodds.com/tag/bonus-bagging/>

I don't think you will be disappointed! Good luck and best wishes,

Gordon

League Table of Current Reviews

Return to Contents/Index of this newsletter

The systems under review have different starting banks, different stakes and some systems have variable stakes. A reasonable way of comparing the performance of systems is to work out the profit (or loss) as a percentage of the starting bank. Obviously this table doesn't replace reading the reviews, because profit as %age of bank is not the only factor in judging a system. Nevertheless, I think it is a valid at-a-glance way of bringing the mass of data together.

I've colour coded the reviews that are the currently most successful, with the colour of their profitability graph to make them easier to spot. Some of the older or suspended reviews have been taken off to make the graph look clearer.

Sprint Lay Expert and Turf Wars are firmly lodged at the top. Bonus Bagging, from LayTheOdds has moved up higher into 3rd place.

Profitability Graph

Here is a graph of the profit being made by the front-runners as a percentage of their starting bank. This gives a week by week comparative view of their progress.

It gives a representation of the volatility or dependability of each system. Ideally we would want a graph that increased each week by roughly the same amount. If a system or tipping service could produce that, then we would really have a winning review!

With Turf Wars and Sprint Lay Expert in the lead, Bonus Bagging after three weeks, is doing very well. It is early days yet for Major League Profits, but the Low lay is starting to look consistent.
